

Why we can help

Avanulo has experience dealing with the employee and business issues related to health crises. We were on the ground in Mexico, and across the US, during the H1N1 outbreak of 2009. We helped preserve our client's revenue streams, maintain customer & investor confidence, and ensure the safety of employees. We have dealt with half a dozen, large-scale health crises and provided our clients with useful tools to safeguard their employees and their businesses.

Webinar Pitch

Covid-19 is a threat to business.

Smart companies are protecting revenue with dynamic planning. Avanulo helps all types of companies do this in an effective way. We were on the ground in Mexico during the first H1N1 outbreak, and we helped preserve our client's revenue streams, maintain customer & investor confidence, and ensure the safety of employees. Now you can benefit from our experience by attending Avanulo's free seminar - the Business Continuation Planner.

Our highly pragmatic approach provides a dual focus for safeguarding your employees and safeguarding your business.

We are now seeing some areas of the country, and the world, simply shut down. The interdependence of our supply chains is sure to affect every enterprise in the US.

How can you safeguard your employees while you safeguard your revenue stream? Answering this question well, may make the difference between a successful year and financial disaster. Let us help you. Attend our free 60 minute seminar. It is filled with practical, easily implementable tools and ideas. Although we do offer additional assistance, this seminar is not a sales pitch. It is a public service that contains valuable information. You have seen what you should do to protect employees, this seminar will provide you with the proven answers for how to do it. Almost no one is providing methods for safeguarding your revenue stream. You can find answers in this seminar, called the Business Continuation Planner

The Business Continuation Planner is an information-packed seminar that provides everything you need to quickly and affordably weather the Covid-19 crisis.

This seminar will enable you to better safeguard your people. Immediately after you can:

- Go beyond telling people to wash their hands and enact practical hygiene protocols that enable you to realize the protection that health professionals intend.
- Dramatically improve your cross-training capability, so that your workforce has the flexibility to meet customer demand.
- Recruit and train replacement workers and leaders more quickly than you ever imagined.
- Implement a workable furlough program that keeps people earning and producing during the crises.
- Prepare for the public health, socio-technical, and stress issues that will distract you, if left unaddressed.
- Develop Health, Human Resources, & Security Plans that protect your people & your assets, and ensure compliance as new requirements appear.

The seminar will also enable you to better safeguard your business. Immediately after you can:

- Create a crisis management center and a daily meeting that will keep everyone calm, focused, and productive.
- Develop a deployment plan so you can continue to operate despite extreme and prolonged levels of absenteeism.
- Develop a strategy to preserve your primary value stream.
- Engage your people, your customers, and your suppliers to expand a secondary value stream, or establish a novel value stream, thereby safeguarding the flow of revenue.
- Develop contingency plans and budgets, so you can stay on track; and keep your assets working for you